FIFTH SUNDAY of EASTER Year B 29th April 2018

FEEDBACK ON SLS18 CONFERENCE (full report on noticeboard) At the beginning of this year I took part in the SLS18 conference led by the Fellowship of Catholic University Students in Chicago, Illinois, thanks to the generosity of my parish, the Catenian Association, and the Knights of St. Columba.

There I joined 8000 young Catholic students in experiencing a Church alive and empowering. I was immediately attracted to the hope I saw there – a vital counter to the underlying despair I see in many of my peers today. This is the fellowship that I want to share and propagate in my communities at home.

I brought my doubts to the conference – in my faith and my ability. But there I was privileged to meet strong men and women of virtue, with purpose and dignity. We saw in one another a faith that was personal but not individualistic, infinitely unique but could be shared internationally. In this communion we experienced affirmation and opportunity to grow.

Initially I expected to be lectured at – with some reflection afterwards in small groups but without real application or relevance. What I received were practical skills and true insight that opened my heart to the transformative power of the Living Word of God, and the necessity of a dynamic personal relationship with Him, in fellowship with each other.

This was not a typical retreat providing a spiritual oasis that does not/ cannot exist elsewhere. We were trained in FOCUS' principles of "win, build, send" for entering into meaningful and fruitful spiritual multiplication back home.

This is a method for evangelisation modelled after Jesus' personal friendships with John, James and Peter. This gives us the bases to enter into authentic friendships with Christ at the centre, as the inception of a deeper journey together in faith.

This resonated with me as something that I, and clearly many others, yearned for at university. I now have the tools to expand my existing relationships and build new authentic friendships in my communities, then pass on what we have learnt together to proliferate this encounter with God.....

I experienced the largest mass of my life, with some 8000 students (not counting the religious men and women and FOCUS staff); and the smallest, Saturday evening mass with my travel group of four, in one day. This was the same sacrament – the centre of everything we did there...

I will also be attending the Adoremus Eucharistic Congress alongside other diocesan leaders later this year. This is an international and collaborative effort, bringing us together in a common search for truth, beauty and justice.

I would like to express sincere thanks again to my parish Corpus Christi, the Catenian Association and the Knights of St Columba; without whose support it would have not been possible for me to attend such an incredible event.

This has been a pivotal point in my faith, and has equipped me with skill and courage to continue the work of the Great Commission. Please continue to pray for me, that I can be a worthy instrument of His grace. Hiroki Cook 16/04/18
